

V. Pabat - 70

On March 6, 2015, a 70-year-old scientist in the field of agriculture, a state figure, a doctor of agricultural sciences, a professor, a well-deserved employee of the country's state-giving of Ukraine, Pabat Victor Alekseevich was released. The anniversary was born in. Vyshnivka Ichnyansky district of Chernihiv region. Graduated from the Poltava Agricultural Institute. Viktor Oleksiyovych began his labor activity with a zoo technician at the state enterprise "Stepne" in Poltava region. Working in the "Stepnoy", simultaneously in 1974 entered the correspondence department to the postgraduate study, which was successfully completed. From 1974 to 1980 he was a deputy rector of the educational-research farm "Jubilee" of the Poltava Agricultural Institute. Together with the labor collective, the scientist created a state-owned enterprise, which, according to the indicators of grain yield, technical and other crops, the level of productivity of livestock, social infrastructure, occupied one of the leading places among farms of higher educational institutions of agricultural management of the former The Soviet Union. The state gifts he led was a regular participant in the exhibitions of achievements of the national economy of the USSR and the USSR. Seminars of analytical farms of the entire Soviet Union were conducted on its basis. From 1980 to 1987, Victor Alekseevich worked as the head of the district executive committee and the first secretary of the district committee of the Semeniv district. According to him, the district became one of the top ten in the Poltava region. In 1995 V.O. Pabat received a Ph.D. thesis on the topic: "Influence of Parametric Factors on the Milk Productivity of Cows" and received the scientific degree of the Candidate of Agricultural Sciences. Under his direct leadership in Poltava region, state-owned breeding plants for cattle and pigs have been established, which have been functioning successfully until now. In 1997 Viktor Oleksiyov-Chu was awarded the title of assistant professor. Subsequently, VO Pabat worked at high state posts in the central organs of the administrative structures - initially as the first deputy, then as Deputy Minister of Agriculture of Ukraine, the first assistant to the Chairman of the Verkhovna Rada of Ukraine, advisor to the head of the secretariat of the President of Ukraine. Victor Alekseevich has been successfully working at the garden of the Deputy Director, and also a professor at the Department of Innovation in the agro-industrial complex NII of postgraduate education of NUBIP of Ukraine. The scientist successfully combined the results of scientific and practical activities and in 1998 he defended his doctoral dissertation on the subject: Selection and Genetic Factors for the Formation of Meat Productivity of Livestock. In 2000, he was promoted to the title of professor. His scientific works on technology of production of milk and meat of cattle, breeding processes in herds, systems of selection of dairy cattle in the regions (100 thousand heads and more), the quality of livestock products in modern production conditions, Providing genetic enhancement of hereditary features and inductive properties. For many years of diligent work, a significant contribution to agrarian science, education and production by the decree of the President of Ukraine, Professor VO In 2007, the Pabat was awarded the title "Honored Worker of Agriculture of Ukraine", in 2000 he was awarded the Diploma of the Verkhovna Rada of Ukraine. We sincerely and cordially congratulate the distinguished Victor Alekseyovich on his anniversary, wishing for health, inexhaustible creative inspiration, vitality, vigor, optimism and family well-being.

The staff of the National University of Life and Environmental Sciences of Ukraine